Philadelphia, Pa. July 4.—Rowing with clock-like precision the Union Boat Club of New York showed its heels to the Potomacs of Washington; Malta of Schuylkill Navy, and the Argonaut Star, and until the time the trolley bridge was reached it was anybody's race. Flashing out under the arch the Gothamites shot into the lead which they held all the way down the course winning in easy fashion. The Potomac crew challenged the New Yorkers just as the head of Peters' Island was reached but the Union bunch had lots in reserve and flashed over the line with two lengths of open water to the good. After leading practically all the way the Potomacs of Washington were forced to watch the New York Athletic Club athletes cross the line a winner in the junior quadruple sculls race.
